ABSTRACT

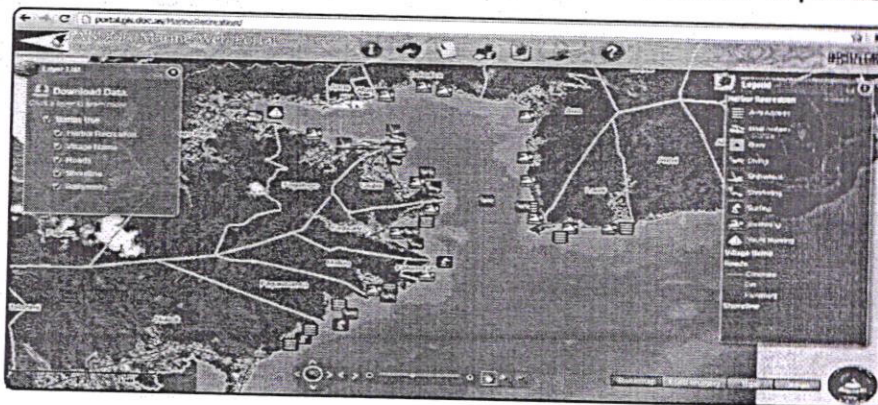

Urbanization is an important demographic shift worldwide. Today, nearly half the world population is urban. In India the rate of urbanization is also high in the last decade. It is major challenge for urban health. Urbanization has been traditionally linked to development and development with health. Indian cities are divided into two parts: one half lives in relatively clean and healthy environs, while the other lives in congested and overcrowded slums. The main objective of the present paper is to understand the incidence and distribution of Typhoid and Malaria study in Jalgaon city. The study is mainly based on the primary data, collected through well structured schedule, on purposively stratified random sampling method. Highest incidence and incidence rate of typhoid is recorded in ward no. 67, which is slum locality. The average incidence rate of typhoid is found 0.46 persons per thousand populations in the study area. In slum locality incidence rate is concentrate is Moderate category, followed by Low (16 wards) and High (12 wards) category. In ward no. 56 and 67 highest incidence of malaria (14) are recorded. The highest (2.70) rate of malaria is found in ward no. 67 and the average incidence rate of malaria is 0.41 persons per thousand persons in the study area. Out of 69 wards, in 33 wards no malaria patients are recorded in surveyed households. Very High incidence category of malaria is concentrated in 13 slum wads, followed by High in 12 wards in non slum locality. While, in 4 slum localities malaria incidence are found nil (ward no. 9, 12, 23, & 48). The proportion of morbidity cases of malaria to total no. of morbidity cases of all communicable diseases in that ward are concentrated in High and Very High category in both slum and non slum locality. Whereas proportion of morbidity cases malaria to total no. of morbidity cases of all communicable diseases in the study area are concentrated Very High (11 wards)

ABSTRACT

Arc GIS are software of Geographical Information System provide information particular place to place. Tourist industry is used more and more internet tools of traveling. Tourism industry is perfect platform for services and products for customer. The web based systems provide value, services online advertising material. Geographical Information System and tourism industry have close relationship. Geographic location and its surrounding information are easy to find out tourists. In mainly cases it is not pleasing to find a pleasant hotel without a reference to restaurants, tourist attractions. The present research work focus on tourism object in geography regarding to tourist maps, tourism originations, searching of tourist places, decisions making and tourism management with the help of Geographical Information and GIS techniques.

KEY WORDS: Tourism Industry, GIS techniques, Integration, Internet, tourist.

1. INTRODUCTION

Touristic activities are common and developing in coastal area hence number of people sengage in it. All over India getting maximum benefit from tourism from coastal, hilly areas. Sustainable development has been possible to using such coastal and hilly area for tourism purpose. In this regards GIS techniques shows the potential sites of tourism. In last few years Geographical Information System (GIS) pay important role in development of tourism industry. Many companies are producing software and support specific to this industry. Now using GIS applications many tourist companies i.e. network

ABSTRACT:-

भारतासारख्या कृषीप्रधान देशामध्ये शेतीसाठी शेतकऱ्यांना कर्जपुरवठ्याची अत्यावश्यकता असते. सहकारी संस्थामार्फत गावोगावी, खेड्यापाड्यात शेतकऱ्यांना कर्जपुरवठा व्हावा असा प्रयत्न करण्यात आला. यासाठी सरकारने कृषी वित्त पुरवठ्याची त्रिस्तरीय यंत्रणा निर्माण करून गाव पातळीवरील प्राथमिक कृषी सहकारी पतसंस्था हा तिसरा स्तर असून कृषी वित्त पुरवठ्यात या संस्थांचे अत्यंत मोलाचे योगदान आहे.

STUDY OF STANDARDS FOR COLLEGE LIBRARIES

Dr. Vinay Bhaskar Patil
Librarian, Arunodaya Dnyan Prasarak Mandals,
Women's College of Arts, Commerce & Home science, Jalgaon.

ABSTRACT

The Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) came out with Indian Standard: 1553- 1960 Code of practice relating to primary elements in the design of library building. The IS 1553-1960 prescribed the average size of different types of libraries, the different kinds of rooms required, etc.

KEYWORDS :Standards, Bureau of Indian, College Libraries.

INTRODUCTION

A college library is the best source for students to enlarge their mental horizon and intellect and a pool of knowledge for the development of a wholesome personality of a student. It is the pivot around which all the academic Activities of a college revolve. Although, there are many avenues of learning for college students, e.g. lectures, discussions, demonstrations, visual aids, and field trips, reading remain the principal means, by which a student acquires knowledge. A library develops the taste of general reading and Acts as an industry, which generates scholars, scientists, and statesman. College library has been defined by Dictionary of Education as: "A library forming an internal part of a college organized and administered to meet the needs of students and faculty."

ADMINISTRATIVE SET-UP:

Every institution or organization has some sort of goals to achieve. To achieve that goal an organizational structure must be defined and a management authority should be appointed. The basic policies of organization or institution are established by the management authority for achieving goals. The main concern of administration is to translate the policies into Action.

Administration is usually concerns with the overall determination of the major policy and objectives. Thus, for the administrative function to be effective in operation, a doing function is required.

The libraries are expected to be under the administrative control of professionally qualified librarians for their proper functioning and development. A librarian is the real administrator of college library. The administrative hierarchical structure of a college library is given below:
