1. INTRODUCTION

The information technology revolution is really in full swing in every field of education in the world. The library plays pivotal role in any educational or research institution. It supports in providing proper, basic and requisite information to the users, using various information resources. Libraries are in transition phase; the recent use of ICT has forced libraries and information systems to shift their traditional practices and methods of information searching and information transfer.

Geography is, generally, the study and understanding of various physical locations all across the planet. A geographer are historically known as people who make maps, map making is actually the field study of cartography, a subset of geography. Geographers study not only the physical details of the environment but also its effects on human and wildlife, ecologies, weather and climate patterns, economics, and culture. They are often especially focused on the spatial relationships between these elements. (Wikipedia, 2013)

Definitions: -

According to Fliahu Hoffman- "Information is an aggregate that means collection or accumulation of statements or facts or figures which are conceptually (by way of reasoning, logic, ideas or any other mental mode of operation interrelated or connected)"

Information Seeking: - Information seeking is a process in which a person engages himself in order to advance and potentially alter their state of knowledge. It is an important function of learning and solving the problems, sometimes thought of as a higher cognitive process. Therefore the behavior is one of the most important research areas in library user studies, which can be affected by various factors. (Marchionini, 1995)

Information Seeking Behaviour: - Information seeking is one of the basic behaviour of a human. If it is considered a simple activity, it is a mental process which occurs in the mind of the users. It is the purposive seeking for information as a result of a

"LIBRARY FACILITIES AND SERVICES BASED ON NAAC PARAMETERS: A CASE STUDY"

Dr. Vinay Bhaskar Patil

Librarian, Arunodaya Dnyan Prasarak Mandals,
Women's College of Arts, Commerce & Home science, Jalgaon.

Affiliated and constituent colleges are units of the university. If the colleges function effectively then the universities can function adequately. In view of this, it is essential to evaluate the performance of the colleges in terms of their level of academic credibility. This will help us to identify the ways and means of overcoming their inadequacies. From this perspective assessment and accreditation will serve a very useful purpose. The concern of the NAAC is to enhance the quality of higher education.

Education plays a vital role in the development of any nation. Therefore, there is a premium on both quantity (increased access) and quality (relevance and excellence of academic programmes offered) of higher education.

Over the years, the University Grants Commission (UGC) and the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) has succeeded in promoting quality as a

ABSTRACT

At present, the only forum for the library staff to interact with the faculty and authorities is the library committees, which unfortunately do not exist in many institutions. And even if committee is in place, it is mostly non-functional. The accreditation process creates opportunities for the library profession, the importance of the assessment and evaluation process leading to accreditation lies in the fact that this is for the first time that libraries are being exposed to mandatory external evaluation. There is scope to improve on the formats and questionnaires prescribed for gathering information about library resources and services; and the desirable quality standards and indicators appropriate for different types of libraries also need to be identified.

KEYWORDS: NAAC, Library, Education, academic credibility.

Review Of Research

ROLE OF THE LIBRARY FOR HIGHER EDUCATION SYSTEM

Vinay Bhaskar Patil

Librarian, Arunodaya Dnyan Prasarak Mandals,
Women's College of Arts, Commerce & Home science, Jalgaon.

ABSTRACT

The researcher has selected the topic "General Introduction to the Role of the Library for Higher Education system" because he has been working as College librarian since last decade and has gained adequate knowledge of the subject.

A library is a social organization and a necessary unit in the social fabric, effectively planned and organized for transmitting the accumulated experience of society to individual members of society through the instrumentality of books and other graphic materials – maps, charts, photos, records, microfilms, microfiche and audio-visual aids, etc. The academic library has been described as the "heart" of the learning community, providing plashes for students and faculty to do their research and advance their knowledge.

Libraries are neither factories nor business / profitable organizations. Libraries are service organizations. It is a transition phase for libraries, from traditional to modern library set ups.

KEYWORDS : Library, Higher Education system, social organization.

INTRODUCTION

Education and training are perceived to be the key elements in the process of change and central in the development of knowledge-based economies. However, transformation in society requires a new approach to education. Several reports have pointed to the 'new learning reality' and the need for 'rethinking the whole learning enterprise' if countries were to succeed in the global knowledge-based society. Therefore, along with all other sectors of society, education is undergoing major transformation, rationalization, restructure and redefinition (Inglis et al, 2002) to respond to many socio-economic developments and educational needs of the modern society. Several observers have pointed out that during the last decade, technology, globalization, and competition have caused the ground to shift under higher education worldwide, defying national borders and calling into question honored traditions, scared myths, and previously unquestioned assumptions.

HIGHER EDUCATION –OVERVIEW:

Dictionary of Education compiled by Good defines higher education as "Instruction offered to persons of considerable intellectual maturity, usually requiring previous
